Notes on Narbonne

Gaucha Hot Rodders To Compete in Show

By ADRIENNE SIDWELL
Whew! The suspense is over. Gaucha students received their first ten-week report cards on Tuesday. This means there will be only nine more weeks of school in this semester. To be exact—46 school days.

Jack Carden, chairman, will be helped by the Key Club.

Ralph DePalma, former Indianapolis race winner, was the guest speaker at last Tuesday's senior assembly in the auditorium. Mr. DePalma emphasized "safe-driving." A very interesting color film of last year's Indianapolis race was shown. During the assembly, the Junior High Gauchos were out on the field for a junior high track meet.

Joan Armington took over the reins as president of the Westminster Fellowship last Sunday in the Presbyterian Church's social hall. Assisting her are: Dick Dawson, vice-president; Phyllis Hazelbaker, secretary-treasurer.

For the past couple of weeks the Westminster-Teenagers and the Westminster-Tuners have been hard at work in preparation for a program "On the Record" to be held in the Social Hall of the Lomita Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening at 7:30. Everyone is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

There was another one of those super-duper Girls' League noon assemblies last Thursday. The kids that attended said it was really swell.

On Sunday, May 10, at noon, Narbonne will stage a hot rod show on the boys' field. Thirteen trophies will be given.

Narbonne won three books for the library as the prize for the largest number of students enrolled in the Sales Executives Club's contest, "Selling as a Career." Barbara Goad won an honorable mention for her essay.

The Senior Ayes dance under the theme of "April in Paris" was a big success last Friday night in the boys' gym, according to all the kids that attended. Bob Mohr and his orchestra were terrific also.

Pat Gilbert had another slumber-LESS party last weekend, with Ruthie Pickles' Armes, Virginia and Lavana Connor and Sheryl Ludwig, from Banning completing the party.

Last Sunday Lila Cordray, Claudia Bowers and her mother went to spend a beautiful day picnicking and going to the zoo. So if you should see Lila or Claudia trying to swing from the trees, don't be alarmed, they're just trying to imitate the monkeys that they saw at the zoo. The kids chorused that they had loads of fun.

Plan Open House For Harbor JC

Harbor junior college will observe Public Schools Week with an Open House program of events on Monday evening, April 27 from 7 to 9 p.m., Raymond J. Casey, Tech. director, announced recently.

Key features of the annual event will be tours of the college plant, special exhibits and demonstrations in the classrooms and in the technical shop rooms. A hobby show in the electric shop room, and the availability of division chairmen in the college library for talks with parents or students concerning the offerings of the college.

Tech student hosts and faculty members will greet guests in Room 100 of the administration building where guest tags and other material will be distributed, and where visitors will be oriented as to the various demonstrations and displays which will open for inspection on the tour.

Climax of the evening's activities will be a coffee hour in the Campus Center building. Civic, fraternal and religious groups in the Harbor area also will receive special invitations to the program, Casey said.

Tomorrow Narbonne will play host to a potential tough Gardena track squad. Our boys gained a convincing win over Westchester last Friday.

More than 220 kids, including Narbonne students and adults gathered last Sunday evening in the Lomita Presbyterian Church with the Westminster Fellowship group to hear a student from U.C.L.A. tell of his experiences in India last summer. Following there were refreshments. The Westminster-Tuners, accompanied by Danny Marsh, sang.

Many Narbonne students are still raving about the All-Southern California Youth Band that paid our dear ole' Alma Mater a visit yesterday. Everyone is talking about how beautifully the band played.

Another slumber-LESS party was held by Judy Patterson the Friday of Easter vacation. Gobbling on such goodies as hot dogs, cakes, cookies, potato chips and drinking Cokes were: Eve Petranovich, Jean Kellman, Jackie Connor, Karen Pederson, Barbara Ivin, Shirley Ende, Darilyn McCann, and of course the hostess, Judy.

SPECIAL NOTICE!

To Torrance Gardens and Ketter Knolls Home Owners

Your new home has non-rusting copper pipes, the best money can buy. Unfortunately, copper water heaters were not available at that time. Some of you have had to replace the galvanized tank heaters. We are happy to announce that on February 19th, we received our first shipment of Hoyt Copper Heart Water Heaters. Goodbye rust and leaking water heaters. Advantages: limited quantities as government relaxes copper for civilian use.
